The Wider Movement's commitments and modus operandi:

1. The Wider Movement (TWM) is a voluntary service provided by some individuals in support of other individuals and organisations that work out of Anthroposophy, by establishing and maintaining a network of communications and interactions between those parties for the benefit of those parties and a positive information flow to the wider public. The individuals involved in TWM undertake to act transparently and evenhandedly, to the best of their abilities, for the benefit of the public and all who link to The Wider Movement. The individuals organising TWM will endeavour to uphold high standards of interaction and communication and to satisfy reasonable requests. TWM is not an organ of the Anthroposophical Society, which is in no way responsible or liable for the activities of TWM.
2. While taking reasonable care to exclude wrong information, The Wider Movement or those carrying responsibility for it do not accept responsibility or shall be held liable for the factual correctness of information supplied by others and displayed on the website, nor for the opinions expressed by others on the website.
3. Participation in TWM and its website is understood to be based on openmindedness and tolerance. This means that there is not a narrow and restrictive definition of what qualifies participants to be invited to join TWM, beyond an acknowledgement that they are deriving inspiration in their work in the public realm from the work of Rudolf Steiner and those associated with his work.
4. The invitation to participate in TWM and its website may be withdrawn if it should become clear that TWM or any of its participants are being brought into disrepute through words or actions, including discrimination on the basis of gender, race, culture, belief, or overzealously declared views.

I, the undersigned, accept the above TWM commitments and in turn commit:

1. to be accountable for the correctness of the information supplied to TWM, on this form or otherwise, for display on the website;
2. to ensure that on my/my organisation's information page on TWM listing it will state whether I/my organisation complies with, or not, any applicable legal requirements (such as registrations with professional control bodies and/or government bodies) and alternative practice organisations (eg Demeter certification, or similar). I also commit to timeously inform the TWM website administrator of any change to this that may occur at a future time, so that the information on the website can be amended accordingly;
3. to act and communicate in such a way that does not bring The Wider Movement and the other parties presented on its website into disrepute;
4. to immediately inform TWM if a search engine reports that my/my organisation's website is affected by malware, so that TWM may temporarily suspend the link until the matter is resolved.
